On-line Meetings

With required social distancing and limited personal contact requirements, many businesses are choosing to meet on-line. Using various tele-conference tools such as Microsoft Teams or Zoom, many companies are hosting meetings in these on-line formats.

Insurance companies are no different and need to continue to communicate with key stakeholders during the COVID-19 crisis, as face to face meetings are difficult to have with limited meeting facilities and health precautions.

Canadian Insurers Mutual Professionals are now able to provide on-line meetings for management discussions or strategic meetings. CIMP uses Microsoft Teams and Zoom to facilitate sessions. Microsoft Teams is part of Office 365 and can be readily utilized by those companies who already have this software and can use the electronic whiteboards component. Zoom software is readily available through the internet and is easy to use for small meetings.

Contact CIMP today to discuss the opportunity to host virtual meetings.
